

Fund Objective

The primary objective of the Cultiv8 Absolute Hedge Fund to provide consistent, positive absolute returns in excess of the agreed hurdle rate, in USD. Target return will be 20-25% per annum, subject to sufficient and identifiable opportunities.

Risk Profile*

Low Low-Medium Medium Medium-High High

Portfolios in this category are tilted towards a higher equity exposure (both local and international) which could be tantamount to greater fluctuations (volatility) in short-term performances. While statistical analyses of markets' returns indicate that investments in equities (company shares) offer the highest expected returns in the longer-term, it also comes with the highest risk of short-term capital losses. Most investment returns from these portfolios are of a capital (rather than income) nature.*

Total Expense Ratio is the global standard used to measure the impact that the deduction of management and operating costs have on a fund's value. It gives you an indication of the effects these costs have on the future growth of your investment portfolio. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. Also, the current TER may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TERs.

Market commentary

March was marked by significant global uncertainty, driven largely by escalating tensions between US/Israel and Iran. This heightened an already volatile pricing environment, resulting in unusually high levels of volatility across all markets, particularly in commodities. The global instability also spilled into the South African market, further intensifying volatility.

Improved rainfall and more favourable longer-term weather forecasts have supported local yield prospects, with both maize and soybean prices expected to gradually move toward export parity. However, despite these positive production expectations, wetter than normal weather has delayed harvest, which, together with strong global market dynamics, has kept prices elevated.

Volatility is expected to stay elevated throughout Q2 2026, continuing to present relative arbitrage opportunities - especially between SAFEX Maize and CBOT Corn, as well as SAFEX Soybeans and CBOT Soybeans. The fund is expected to increase its exposure to the maize trade during Q2. In contrast, soybean exposure has remained minimal due to limited upside potential, although soybean opportunities are still being actively monitored for possible increased participation should market conditions become more favourable.

Transaction Costs (TC) is necessary in managing the fund and impacts the fund's return. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of fund, the investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER. The Total Investment Charge (TIC) is the sum of the Total Expense Ratio (TER) and Transaction Costs (TC).
