

By using our email services, you agree and accept all of Prime Financial Services and its subsidiary companies (hereinafter collectively referred to as the “Group”) terms of use, specifically the following:

E-mails from the Group (including any attachments thereto) may contain confidential and proprietary information. E-mails are intended for the addressee only and should only be used by the addressee for the related purpose. If you are not the intended recipient of an e-mail received from the Group, you are requested to delete it immediately. Any disclosure, copying, distribution of or any action taken or omitted in reliance on this information is prohibited and may be deemed unlawful. Disclosure to any party other than the addressee, whether inadvertent or otherwise, is not intended to waive privilege or confidentiality.

The views expressed in e-mails are, unless otherwise stated, those of the sender and not those of the Group or its management. No employee or consultant of the Group is authorized to conclude any binding agreement on behalf of the Group with another party by e-mail.

E-mails cannot be guaranteed to be secure or free of errors or viruses. No liability or responsibility is accepted for any interception, corruption, destruction, loss, late arrival or incompleteness of or tampering or interfering with any of the information contained in this e-mail or for its incorrect delivery or non-delivery or for its effect on any electronic device of the recipient.

IMPORTANT WARNING: If you have received banking details via email, please call our office at the number provided on our website to confirm the banking details before making a payment. This is a safety measure to prevent Business Email Compromise (BEC). Typically, this is when fraudsters hack email accounts, intercept bank details and/or statements and change the account details to reflect the fraudsters’ account details. No liability or responsibility is accepted for any corruption, interception, loss, destruction, or tampering or interfering with any of the information contained in e-mails containing bank details or for any losses incurred for payments based on a fraudulent e-mail.